

Anthony Norejko, President and CEO
Canadian Business Aviation Association
1 Rideau Street, Suite 700
Ottawa, Ontario Canada K1N 8S7

April 22nd, 2025

Dear Anthony,

Anderson Air is proud to express its ongoing support for the Canadian Business Aviation Association (CBAA) and the vital role it plays in representing and advocating for the business aviation community across Canada.

We recognize and communicate the value of the CBAA to our clients, particularly its efforts to address key industry challenges such as regulatory complexities and environmental concerns. We also encourage active engagement from fellow industry members, as collaboration through the CBAA helps amplify our collective voice and drive meaningful progress.

Anderson Air remains a committed advocate for the CBAA and its initiatives, including the CBAA Compensation Study. This important study offers valuable insights into salary trends and employment practices across the business aviation sector in Canada.

By providing data on wages, bonuses, and other employment benefits, the CBAA Compensation Study plays a critical role in helping operators remain competitive in today's labour market. Anderson Air is proud to support this initiative as part of our broader commitment to elevating industry standards and ensuring that business aviation continues to offer rewarding and sustainable career opportunities.

We look forward to supporting the continued success of the CBAA Annual Canadian Aviation Compensation Study and to strengthening our partnership with the CBAA.

Sincerely,

Ryan Anderson
President & COO
Anderson Air
4360 Agar Drive
Richmond, BC Canada V7B 1A3
T (604) 270-1588
www.andersonair.ca